First 'Lady Law Workshop' is a success

WESTBOROUGH — Attorney Allyson Hope Cohen, host of "Legal Ease" on WTAG and legal analyst on the Jim Polito Show hosted her first Lady Law Workshop at the Westboro Doubletree Hotel on April 30.

Lady Law reviewed two of the most important planning documents all adults should have: a Healthcare Proxy and a Durable Power of Attorney.

The workshop participants learned valuable skills such as how to advocate for hospital inpatient status versus observation status, how to quickly and effectively fight a Medicare denial, and how to evaluate significant aspects of long-term care insurance.

This interactive learning experience taught attendees how to be proactive and champion for themselves and their loved ones when preparing for or dealing with a healthcare or life crisis.

This was the first in a series of workshops from Lady Law.

The second workshop, focusing on Special Needs Planning, is scheduled for September 10.

About Lady Law: Based on her experiences as an Attorney and the challenges her clients face, Attorney Allyson Hope Cohen has made it her personal mission to empower individuals with the legal knowledge they need to advocate for themselves and their loved ones.

Rather than helping only one client at a time through her traditional practice, she created Lady Law to bring her important message to a broader audience.
